

Shadows of doubt

Shedding light on parent concerns about their child's post-pandemic development

64%

Almost two-thirds of parents are concerned their student isn't reaching their full potential

42%

of parents are more stressed than ever about their child's academic success

Parents are worried about their child's

37%
emotional well-being

28%
social development

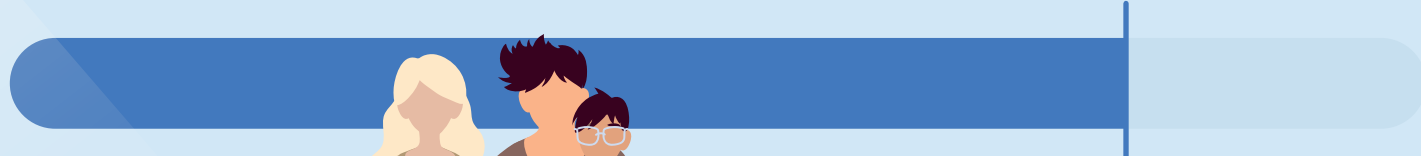

24%
future preparedness

23%
behavioral issues

85%

of parents notice something that concerns them about their child once a month, with 1 in 5 saying it happens every day

72%

of parents say other people's opinions have an impact on their willingness to get their child assessed for a learning disability

Over half of parents believe that their child is still academically behind post-pandemic and

91%

of those parents worry they will stay behind for the rest of their schooling

